

"The mission of Ledyard Public Schools is to ensure a culture of excellence that maximizes student achievement, develops skills for life-long learning, and prepares students to be productive and responsible citizens in a global society."

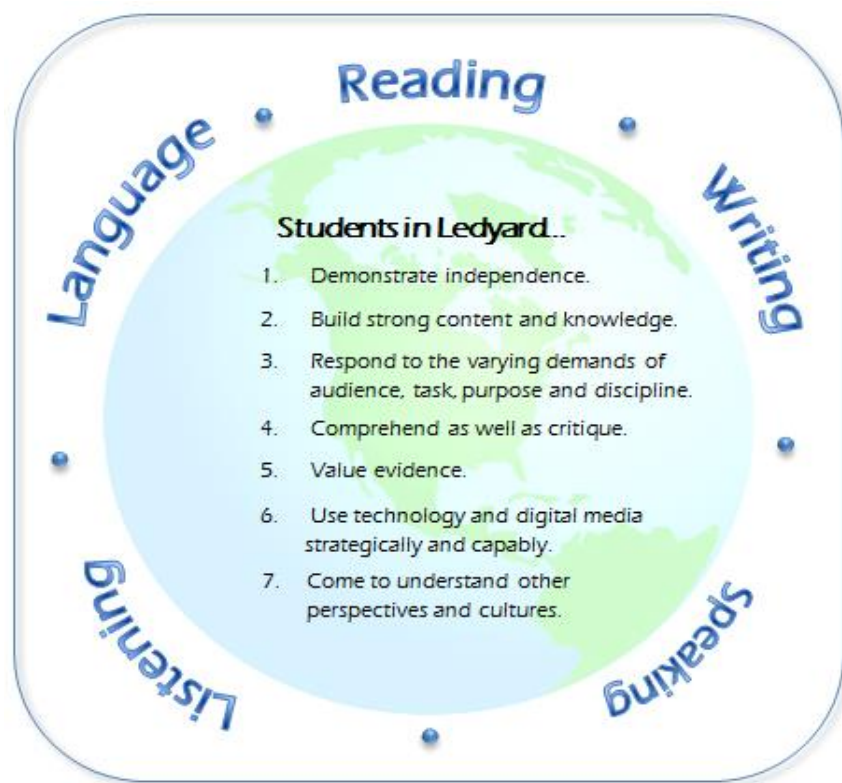

English Language Arts Philosophy

Language Arts is at the foundation of all learning. Therefore, it is a priority of Ledyard Public Schools Educators to develop all aspects of language arts including Reading, Writing, Speaking and Listening, and Language Skills in an integrated way using a variety of instructional strategies, experiences and resources. Our goal is to graduate students who are college and career ready, who think critically and communicate and express themselves clearly, and who are motivated to apply what they have learned independently and collaboratively in a variety of contexts and settings throughout life. We must be visionary in our approach to language arts instruction and vigilant in our pursuit of best practices based on current research. Through the implementation of the Common Core State Standards, students will compete in a global society where they meet the demands of the twenty-first century. Toward that end, Ledyard Public Schools will continue to provide ongoing communication to all families regarding student expectations and student achievement. As a community of learners in pursuit of excellence, we embrace beliefs and practices that ensure success for all.

Grade Six English Language Arts

Overview:

The curriculum is an inclusive set of intentionally aligned components-clear learning outcomes with matching assessments, engaging learning activities, and instructional strategies-organized into sequenced Units of Study. These Units of Study serve as both the detailed road-map and high quality delivery system for ensuring all students achieve the desired end: The attainment of their designated grade specific standards.

This curriculum is aligned to the Common Core State Standards for English Language Arts, adopted by the State of Connecticut in July of 2010. The Standards themselves prepare students to be College and Career Ready (CCR) in Reading, Writing, Speaking and Listening. The College and Career Readiness Anchor Standards, the “backbone” of the Standards, describe the literacy skills which all students need when they graduate. The K-12 Grade-Specific Standards describe the literacy skills, corresponding to the CCR Anchor Standards by number. The K-12 Grade-Specific Standards define end-of-year expectations and a cumulative progression designed to enable students to meet college and career readiness expectations no later than the end of high school. The Ledyard Public Schools K-8 English Language Arts curricula infuse critical 21st Century Learning Skills which will ultimately provide students with the essential skills for success in a global society. These skills include Teamwork and Collaboration, Initiative and Leadership, Curiosity and Imagination, Innovation and Creativity, Critical Thinking and Problem Solving, Flexibility and Adaptability, Effective Oral and Written Communication as well as Accessing and Analyzing Information.

Grade Six English Language Arts

6-8 CCR Anchor Standards:

The 6-8 CCR Anchor Standards are an integrated model of literacy containing four strands: Reading, Writing, Speaking and Listening and Language. Media requirements are blended throughout the standards.

College and Career Readiness Anchor Standards for Reading for Literature and Informational Text

The following standards offer a focus for instruction and help ensure that students gain adequate exposure to a range of texts and tasks. Rigor is also infused through the requirement that students read increasingly complex texts through the grades. Students advancing through the grades are expected to meet each year's grade-specific standards and retain or further develop skills and understandings mastered in preceding grades.

Key Ideas and Details

1. Read closely to determine what the text says explicitly and to make logical inferences from it; cite specific textual evidence when writing or speaking to support conclusions drawn from the text.
2. Determine central ideas or themes of a text and analyze their development; summarize the key supporting details and ideas.
3. Analyze how and why individuals, events, and ideas develop and interact over the course of a text.

Craft and Structure

4. Interpret words and phrases as they are used in a text, including determining technical, connotative, and figurative meanings, and analyze how specific word choices shape meaning or tone.
5. Analyze the structure of texts, including how specific sentences, paragraphs, and larger portions of the text (e.g., a section, chapter, scene, or stanza) relate to each other and the whole.
6. Assess how point of view or purpose shapes the content and style of a text.

Integration of Knowledge and Ideas

7. Integrate and evaluate content presented in diverse media and formats, including visually and quantitatively, as well as in words.
8. Delineate and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, including the validity of the reasoning as well as the relevance and sufficiency of the evidence.
9. Analyze how two or more texts address similar themes or topics in order to build knowledge or to compare the approaches the authors take.

Range of Reading and Level of Text Complexity

10. Read and comprehend complex literary and informational texts independently and proficiently.

College and Career Readiness Anchor Standards for Writing

The following standards offer a focus for instruction to help ensure that students gain adequate mastery of a range of skills and applications. Each year in their writing, students should demonstrate increasing sophistication in all aspects of language use, from vocabulary and syntax to the development and organization of ideas, and they should address increasingly demanding content and sources. Students advancing through the grades are expected to meet each year's grade-specific standards and retain or further develop skills and understandings mastered in preceding grades.

Text Types and Purposes

1. Write arguments to support claims in an analysis of substantive topics or texts, using valid reasoning and relevant and sufficient evidence.
2. Write informative/explanatory texts to examine and convey complex ideas and information clearly and accurately through the effective selection, organization, and analysis of content.
3. Write narratives to develop real or imagined experiences or events using effective technique, well-chosen details, and well-structured event sequences.

Production and Distribution of Writing

4. Produce clear and coherent writing in which the development, organization, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.
5. Develop and strengthen writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach.
6. Use technology, including the Internet, to produce and publish writing and to interact and collaborate with others.

Research to Build and Present Knowledge

7. Conduct short as well as more sustained research projects based on focused questions, demonstrating understanding of the subject under investigation.

Grade Six English Language Arts

8. Gather relevant information from multiple print and digital sources, assess the credibility and accuracy of each source, and integrate the information while avoiding plagiarism.
9. Draw evidence from literary or informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research.

Range of Writing

10. Write routinely over extended time frames (time for research, reflection, and revision) and shorter time frames (a single sitting or a day or two) for a range of tasks, purposes, and audiences.

College and Career Readiness Anchor Standards for Language

The following standards offer a focus for instruction to help ensure that students gain adequate mastery of a range of skills and applications. Students advancing through the grades are expected to meet each year's grade-specific standards and retain or further develop skills and understandings mastered in preceding grades.

Conventions of Standard English

1. Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking.
2. Demonstrate command of the conventions of standard English capitalization, punctuation, and spelling when writing.

Knowledge of Language

3. Apply knowledge of language to understand how language functions in different contexts, to make effective choices for meaning or style, and to comprehend more fully when reading or listening.

Vocabulary Acquisition and Use

4. Determine or clarify the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases by using context clues, analyzing meaningful word parts, and consulting general and specialized reference materials, as appropriate.
5. Demonstrate understanding of figurative language, word relationships and nuances in word meanings.
6. Acquire and use accurately a range of general academic and domain-specific words and phrases sufficient for reading, writing, speaking, and listening at the college and career readiness level; demonstrate independence in gathering vocabulary knowledge when encountering an unknown term important to comprehension or expression.

Grade Six English Language Arts

College and Career Readiness Anchor Standards for Speaking and Listening

The following standards offer a focus for instruction to help ensure that students gain adequate mastery of a range of skills and applications. Students advancing through the grades are expected to meet each year's grade-specific standards and retain or further develop skills and understandings mastered in preceding grades.

Comprehension and Collaboration

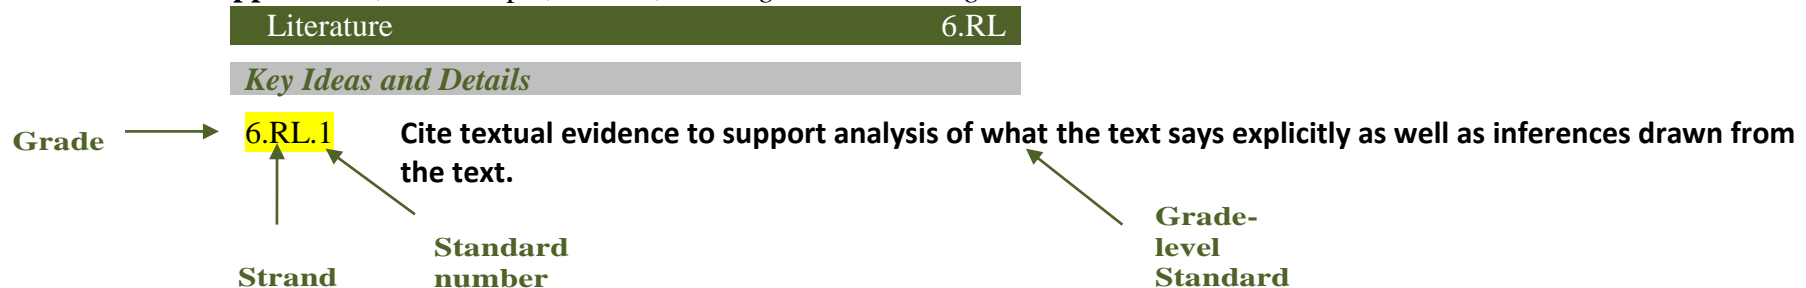

1. Prepare for and participate effectively in a range of conversations and collaborations with diverse partners, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly and persuasively.
2. Integrate and evaluate information presented in diverse media and formats, including visually, quantitatively, and orally.
3. Evaluate a speaker's point of view, reasoning, and use of evidence and rhetoric.

Presentation of Knowledge and Ideas

4. Present information, findings, and supporting evidence such that listeners can follow the line of reasoning and the organization, development, and style are appropriate to task, purpose, and audience.
5. Make strategic use of digital media and visual displays of data to express information and enhance understanding of presentations.
6. Adapt speech to a variety of contexts and communicative tasks, demonstrating command of formal English when indicated or appropriate.

Grade-Specific Standards: Refer to Appendix A

Individual grade-specific standards are identified by grade, strand, and number (or number and letter, where applicable) and are located in Appendix A; for example, 6.RL.1, means grade 6, Reading Literature, standard 1.

Note for Coding: Any standard that is highlighted in yellow indicates if that standard is either new or if there is an increase in rigor.

Grade Six English Language Arts Unit 1 Reading and Writing

Subject(s)	English Language Arts
Unit of Study	Unit #1 – The Making of a Good Story / A Study of Narrative Text
Pacing	35 days

Unit Summary
Students will read and analyze a variety of literary text, including fiction, poetry and drama, to determine how specific parts of a text contribute to the overall development of the text. Throughout the unit, the teacher will provide whole group instruction using mentor texts and student generated writing to help students value and apply those narrative elements in their own writing. At the end of the unit, students will compose a narrative piece that demonstrates their understanding of story elements (i.e., plot, character, conflict, setting and theme). Finally, students will also have opportunities to engage in collaborative discussions in order to gain a deeper understanding of what makes a story worth reading.

CCR.6.W.3d USE precise words and phrases, relevant descriptive details, and sensory language to convey experiences and events.

CCR.6.W.3e PROVIDE a conclusion that follows from the narrated experiences or events.

CCR.6.SL.1 ENGAGE effectively in a range of collaborative discussions (one-on-one, in groups, and teacher-led) with diverse partners on grade 6 topics, texts, and issues, building on others' ideas and expressing their own clearly.

CCR.6.SL.1a COME to discussions prepared, having read or studied required material; explicitly DRAW on that preparation by referring to evidence on the topic, text, or issue to PROBE and REFLECT on ideas under discussion.

CCR.6.SL.1c POSE and RESPOND to specific questions with elaboration and detail by MAKING comments that contribute to the topic, text, or issue under discussion.

CCR.6.L.1a ENSURE that pronouns are in the proper case (subjective, objective, possessive).

CCR.6.L.1b USE intensive pronouns (e.g., myself, ourselves).

CCR.6.L.2 DEMONSTRATE command of the conventions of standard English capitalization, punctuation, and spelling when writing.

CCR.6.L.2b SPELL correctly.

CCR.6.L.3 USE knowledge of language and its conventions when writing, speaking, reading, or listening.

CCR.6.L.4a USE context (e.g., the overall meaning of a sentence or paragraph; a word's position or function in a sentence) as a clue to the meaning of a word or phrase.

The following lesson from the CROSSWALK Coach addresses the following standards and can be embedded throughout the unit: Lesson 1, pages 22-28 (RL.3) and The Day Book Teacher's Guide Unit 3 "Making Connections", pages 42-56. Throughout unit, emphasize vocabulary, unknown words and multiple meanings (e.g., Tier II pre-teaching, vocabulary mapping, analogies).

- The students will describe how a particular story's or drama's plot unfolds in a series of episodes as well as how the characters respond or change as the plot moves toward a resolution. Students will analyze how a particular sentence, chapter, scene, or stanza fits into the overall structure of a text and contributes to the development of the theme, setting, or plot. Note: Students will be informed they will be expected to use these elements of a story or drama in a written narrative piece.
 - As a pre-assessment, students work independently, with a partner or in small groups to discuss what they already know about literary elements. Possible inquiry based activity could be for students to complete a vocabulary knowledge rating scale or to work with a partner or a small group to match the literary term to the definition and or sample from a text (i.e., conflict → definition → sample of conflict from text).
 - Review text structures (part to whole) which can be found in CROSSWALK Coach, Lesson 5, pages 46-51.
 - Using a model text, define plot structure including the beginning, rising action, falling action, climax, falling action and resolution. This situation causes a conflict. Conflict: caused by external or internal forces. Discuss typical types of conflict: character vs. character, character vs. nature, etc... and how characters that experience these types of conflicts may act or speak about the conflict to other characters or how the conflicts advance the story events, pushing characters to a critical point in the story. Use plot mountain. Note: See Reader's Handbook page 369.
 - Model and provide time for students to participate in small group discussions where they analyze the roles of characters (i.e., major or minor, protagonist or antagonist) from stories they have read, listened to or watched. Emphasis should be on characterization (see vocabulary section) including what the characters are thinking, saying (dialogue), doing and feeling, how they are changing and their relationships with one another (See discussion and journal entries to assist in creating text dependent questions). Students should cite textual evidence to support the analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text focusing on character development or specific character traits connected specifically to the plot. Students can independently complete graphic organizers or additional characterization charts: (See Supporting Materials section for additional ideas)

Graphic Organizer Example 1 Teacher Anchor Chart

Protagonist	Antagonist
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Central Character • Person on whom action centers and may undergo a change • Character who pushes the action forward • Character who attempts to accomplish something • Usually seen as a good person (hero/heroine) 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> • Character or force that holds action back • Character who wants something in opposition to the protagonist • Usually seen as a bad person/force or villain

While reading, begin to create a list of those Antagonist and Protagonists noting the characteristics of each and linking to the use of dialogue. Lead classroom discussions around the types of characters found in text that students are reading and the characters' use of dialogue and how the dialogue impacts the story (style and narrative strategies):

- How does the character see him or herself? What details in the text prove this?
- Choose a decision that the protagonist or antagonist made that you disagree with. Write them a letter explaining what

Grade Six English Language Arts

Unit 1 Reading and Writing

- you think they should have done instead.
- Begin to discuss theme or the writer's message focusing on what the characters do or say that relates to the theme or what important lessons about life do readers learn based on the character's actions?
 - Was there a sense of humor or sarcasm anywhere in the story? If so, where was it used and how does it impact the tone of the story?
 - What is the overall theme of the story? What evidence from the text supports this theme?
 - As students demonstrate understanding of elements of narrative texts during independent reading, use a more complex text to model and provide opportunities for students to discuss how authors use different approaches to issues of time in a narrative text related to the events:
 - Flashbacks: provides the reader with information that will help him/her understand setting, characters or conflict. Students should recognize the use of transitional words or text features that are used to signal a flashback. How does flashback help to set the tone of the story/scene?
 - Foreshadowing: hints or clues in a text that suggest what may occur later in the sequence of the narratives events. It helps to create a tension as the reader anticipates what will happen. Based on the (details in the passage or scene), what do you think the author is trying to foreshadow?
 - Discussion/Journal Entries:
 - How does the title of the text (shape or contribute) to the meaning or purpose of the text?
 - How does the plot develop over the course of the text?
 - What does the first paragraph uncover about the (plot/narrator/character)?
 - How does (event) change or influence the character?
 - How does the author develop the relationship between characters?
 - What does the (dialogue) reveal about the relationships between (character A and character B)?
 - How did (character) create conflict in the story? How was he or she affected as a result of the conflict?
 - How do the main events change the character's actions/thoughts/behaviors?
 - How do the main events contribute to the development of the plot?
 - How does the author develop (the idea) over the course of the text?
 - How does the main character change throughout the story/drama and why? Use details from the story/drama to support your answer.
 - What was a significant event in the story? How did the characters change as a result of the change?
 - How did the change of setting influence the plot?
 - Toward the end of the unit, students will apply the narrative elements learned to their own independent writing. Possible Independent Activities or ways to assess student understanding. Teacher created rubrics should be reviewed with students prior to task to clarify student expectations:
 - Write scenes to show the elements/development of plot (i.e., Given an exposition and rising action students will write climax, falling action and resolution.)
 - Rewrite a passage from a short story adding narrative elements.
 - Write a full narrative using narrative elements.

Grade Six English Language Arts

Unit 1 Reading and Writing

Recursive Strategies need to be included in all Units of Study. In reading, these include building prior knowledge, rereading to clarify information, seeking meaning of unknown vocabulary, using critical and higher order thinking skills, and responding to text. In writing, these include writing for various purposes and audiences, appropriate development, organization, style and word choice specific to writing genres, appropriate language conventions including sentence formation and appropriate grammar, mechanics and spelling/usage.

Vocabulary (bolded terms need to be emphasized)

Affix- a group of letters added to the beginning or end of a word that changes the meaning of the word

Analyze- to separate into parts in order to determine what something is or how it works

Antagonist- the person that works against the hero of the story

Audience- the person or group for whom a selection is written or performed

Climax- the high point in the action of the story

Characterization- techniques a writer used to create and develop a character by what:

- he/she does or says (character interaction/action)
- other characters say about him/her, or how they react to him/her (character relationship)
- the author reveals directly or through a narrator

Concluding section- final section in a written piece

Conclusion- a judgment that can be made by reasoning

Conflict/Tension- a problem or struggle between two opposing forces

- character vs. character- a problem between two characters
- character vs self- a problem within the character's own mind
- character vs. society- a problem between a character and society, law or tradition
- character vs. nature- a problem between a character and an element of nature (i.e., hurricane, blizzard)

Description- a type of writing with the purpose of providing information in such a way that a person, place or thing can be seen in the reader's mind

Dialogue- a direct conversation between characters

Drama- a written work that tells a story through action or speech and is meant to be acted out

Draft- a first or preliminary form of any writing, subject to revision, copying, etc.

Edit- to correct a written work, checking for grammar, spelling or punctuation errors

Elaborate- to extend ideas through the use of facts, descriptions, details or quotations

Event Sequence/Logical Progression of Ideas- the order in which events occur

Evidence- information an author provides to support a text including examples, anecdotes, etc...

Exposition- the part of a story in which the characters are introduced, the background is explained and the setting is described

Flashback- when the present action in a story pauses to describe an earlier event

Foreshadowing- a clue about what is going to happen later in the story

Humor- the quality of a text that makes the character and/or situations seem funny or amusing

Imagery- the use of words to appeal to the senses to help the reader imagine how something looks, smells, sounds or feels

Grade Six English Language Arts

Unit 1 Reading and Writing

Introduction/Beginning- information is given about the characters, their location and the situation in which they find themselves which usually causes a conflict; the opening sentence or paragraph of written work in which the writer captures the reader's attention and/or presents a thesis statement to be developed in the writing

Lead- the beginning that establishes the direction for writing; meant to "hook" the reader

Literary text- a written work, such as a novel, poem or play

Narrative- a story or description of events that may or may not be true

Mood- the feeling

Pace- the tool that allows writers to fashion the speed at which their texts are going to be read

Plan- a step in the writing process used to make decisions about the content of the piece

Plot- the plan, scheme, or main story of a literary or dramatic work/the series of related events that build toward the climax of a story

Precise Language- words that indicate exactly what the author wishes to convey, bringing images in a text to life

Protagonist- the main character in the story, often a good or heroic type

Publish- the final step in the writing process when the writer shares the work with others

Purpose- the intended or desired result of a piece of written or spoken material

Resolution/Resolve- the part of the story in which the problems are solved and the action comes to a satisfying end; an outcome or result of a situation or sequence of events

Revise- a step in the writing process used to correct or improve the original work

Rising Action- the central part of the story during which problems arise after a conflict is introduced

Root Word- the base of a word to which prefixes and suffixes may be added, forming a new word with a different meaning

Sensory Language/Details- words in a description that uses the five senses

Setting- the time and place of a literary work

Stanza- a group of lines forming in a poem; a verse.

Suspense- a feeling of excitement, curiosity or expectation about what will happen

Textual evidence- words from the text that show, prove, or give reasons for making a judgment

Text Structure- the way an author chooses to present information (sentence, chapter, scene, paragraph, stanza)

Theme- the author's message; a common thread or repeated idea that is incorporated throughout a written work

Topic- the main thought or subject of a written work

Transition- words, phrases and clauses that connect or move ideas from one subject to another

Grade Six English Language Arts Unit 2 Reading and Writing

Subject(s)	English Language Arts
Unit of Study	Unit #2 – Analyzing Craft and Structure / A Study of Word Usage
Pacing	30 days (5 re-teach/enrichment days)

Unit Summary
Students will analyze fictional texts through an in-depth study of author's use of word choice and word meaning and its intent including figurative language and connotative meaning. Students will interpret author's point of view through pronoun usage and shifts. Throughout the unit, the teacher will provide whole group instruction using mentor texts and student writing to help students further develop their ability to analyze author's craft and write summaries. Students will also have opportunities to engage in collaborative discussions in order to gain a deeper understanding of what makes a story worth reading. Finally, as a culminating writing task, students will compose a letter to an author of their choice explaining how the author's craft has impacted them personally.

1. How do the words we choose and the language we use impact our writing? 2. Why do we break apart a text and examine its parts? 3. How does the correct use of pronouns make meaning clear? 4. How can a word reveal its meaning?	1. Writers keep readers focused and engaged by using effective word choice. 2. The analysis of the parts of a text leads to understanding the essence of the whole text. 3. Correct use of pronouns requires clear antecedents. 4. Word parts are clues to word meaning.

- Students will determine the meanings of words and phrases as they are used in a text, including figurative and connotative meanings; analyze the impact of a specific word choice on meaning and tone.
 - Model examples of connotations and denotations using The Reader's Handbook, student copy page 279 and teacher's guide pages 186-187. Provide opportunities for students to discuss, and possibly sketch, meanings of words. Discussion prompts throughout unit:
 - What is the tone of the story? What word choices from the story support your thinking?
 - What does the author's word choice reveal about his/her attitude towards the topic? What examples from the text support your answer?
 - Lead a discussion on how to interpret figurative language (e.g., simile, metaphor, personification, hyperbole, idiom) and how to differentiate between literal and non-literal language using mentor texts. Provide opportunities for students to find examples from their own reading. Possible discussion and journal responses:
 - Which words help the reader understand the meaning of _____?
 - How does figurative language impact meaning in a text?
 - How do literary devices enhance and extend meaning in a text?
 - Why does the author use _____? (insert literary device)
 - How does specific language choices impact meaning and tone?
 - Model and discuss how to analyze the impact of figurative and connotative meanings within a text. Possible discussion and journal responses:
 - What is the impact of the word choice used in a paragraph/text?
 - How does the use of the word _____ rather than _____ impact the image the author is creating of the main character?
- Students will explain how an author develops the point of view of the narrator or speaker in a text.
 - Review with students author's purpose using The Reader's Handbook, p.391 and lead a classroom discussion around author's point of view (e.g., define first person, third person, third person omniscient and third person limited). Share examples from The Reader's Handbook, pages 400-401. Additional Power Point on Author's Point of View can also be used to facilitate discussions and can be used as student charts for students to reference:

- Model for students how to determine the author's point of view using Making Meaning Unit 4: Week 2. (Note: Extension activities can be found on pages 171-172).
- Using The Reader's Handbook Lesson Plan book, page 150, continue to build an understanding of point of view and its effect on the story by rewriting a short piece by changing its' point of view. Continue to provide opportunities for students to read and determine point of view and its effects on the story. Discussion Prompts:
 - What is the most likely reason why the author decided to tell the story from _____'s point of view and is it effective? Why or why not?
 - How does the author develop point of view in the story? How do you know?
- Student will determine a theme or central idea of a text and how it is conveyed through particular details; provide a summary of the text distinct from personal opinions or judgments.
 - As introductory lessons, follow CROSSWALK Coach, Lesson 3, pages 34-39 and Day Book Teacher's Guide, Lesson 15, page 53 on "Plot and Theme" to introduce theme and central idea in both literary and informational text modeling how to find examples of finding evidence in the text that demonstrate theme. Begin an anchor chart that represents Books Read and Themes (e.g., Nancy Boyles More Great Answers p. 67 and 68). Note: Build a theme wall for independent reading (Nancy Boyles More Great Answers p. 78) and/or have students create a theme chart in their response journal. Students can use this theme chart as reference throughout the unit.
 - Lead a class discussion around what makes a good summary, including the importance of providing a summary of the text distinct from personal opinions or judgments. Model and provide opportunities for students to read and distinguish important and supporting ideas in a text. Use the following lessons from Making Meaning: Note: Discuss overall themes and central ideas during these lessons.
 - Unit 8, Week 2, Days 1-4, pages 444-459
 - Unit 8, Week 4, Days 1-4, pages 480-500
 - Provide opportunities for students to continue to conduct close readings of short text (e.g., Articles from Toolkit Texts: Education Is Our Hope, Basketball Without Borders, Petticoat Vote, Daybook texts on theme, Twists) in which they mark the text for important information related to theme or central ideas. Students can meet in small groups to discuss their reading and to provide oral and/or written summaries. Note: See Making Meaning, Unit 8, Week 5 for additional ideas.
 - Discussion Prompts and Journal Entries:
 - What is the theme of _____? What details in the story/poem/drama help the reader

Grade Six English Language Arts Unit 3 Reading and Writing

Subject(s)	English Language Arts
Unit of Study	Unit #3 – Communicating for a Purpose/A Study of Text Structure and Central Ideas
Pacing	30 days (25 instructional days and 5 re-teach/enrichment days)

Unit Summary

Students will compose an expository informational article that demonstrates their understanding of text structure, organization, central idea and specific word choice. Throughout the unit, the teacher will provide whole group instruction using mentor texts and student generated writing to help students further develop their ability to analyze author's perspective and write objective summaries.

Priority and Supporting CCSS

Note: The following standards are overarching standards and are found in all grade six units of study: RL.10, RI.10,W.4,W.10, SL.1, SL.6, L.6.

CCR.6.RI.1 CITE textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text.

CCR.6.RI.2 DETERMINE a central idea of a text and how it is conveyed through particular details; PROVIDE a summary of the text distinct from personal opinions or judgments.

CCR.6.RI.4 DETERMINE the meanings of words and phrases as they are used in a text, including figurative, connotative and technical meanings.

CCR.6.RI.5 Analyze how a particular sentence, paragraph, chapter, or section fits into the overall structure of a text and contributes to the development of the ideas.

CCR.6.RI.9 Compare and contrast one author's presentation of events with that of another (e.g., a memoir written by and a biography on the same person).

CCR.6.W.2a INTRODUCE a topic; ORGANIZE ideas, concepts, and information, using strategies such as definition, classification, comparison/contrast, and cause/effect; INCLUDE formatting (e.g., headings), graphics (e.g., charts, tables), and multimedia when useful to aiding comprehension.

CCR.6.W.2b DEVELOP the topic with relevant facts, definitions, concrete details, quotations, or other information and examples.

CCR.6.L.2a USE punctuation (commas, parentheses, dashes) to set off nonrestrictive/parenthetical elements.

CCR.6.L.3b MAINTAIN consistency in style and tone.

CCR.6.RI.5 ANALYZE how a particular sentence, paragraph, chapter, or section fits into the overall structure of a text and contributes to the development of the ideas.

CCR.6.W.1b SUPPORT claim(s) with clear reasons and relevant evidence, using credible sources and demonstrating an understanding of the topic or text.

CCR.6.W.2 WRITE informative/explanatory texts to examine a topic and convey ideas, concepts, and information through the

Grade Six English Language Arts

Unit 3 Reading and Writing

selection, organization, and analysis of relevant content.

CCR.6.W.2c USE appropriate transitions to clarify the relationships among ideas and concepts.

CCR.6.W.2d USE precise language and domain-specific vocabulary to inform about or explain the topic.

CCR.6.W.2e ESTABLISH and MAINTAIN a formal style.

CCR.6.W.2f PROVIDE a concluding statement or section that follows from the information or explanation presented.

CCR.6.W.5 With some guidance and support from peers and adults, DEVELOP and STRENGTH writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach.

CCR.6.L.1 DEMONSTRATE command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking.

CCR.6.L.2 DEMONSTRATE command of the conventions of standard English capitalization, punctuation, and spelling when writing.

CCR.6.L.2b SPELL correctly.

CCR.6.L.3 USE knowledge of language and its conventions when writing, speaking, reading, or listening.

CCR.6.L.4 DETERMINE or CLARIFY the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases based on grade 6 reading and content, choosing flexibly from a range of strategies.

CCR.6.L.4a USE context (e.g., the overall meaning of a sentence or paragraph; a word's position or function in a sentence) as a clue to the meaning of a word or phrase.

Use examples from the text to support your answer.

- Students will analyze one author's presentation of events with that of another while looking at the text structure and central idea.
 - Model for students how to paraphrase using Google Slideshow (paraphrasing techniques). Students will practice paraphrasing and will evaluate each other's work. Provide opportunities for students to find the central ideas during reading. See the following resource: Determining Central Ideas and Writing of Summaries
 - After teacher modeling, students will practice citing textual evidence from several sources using the RACE strategy (Restate the question, answer the question, cite the text evidence, explain your response). While researching and using different sources, students will determine what makes a source credible or not.
 - Continue to model authors' different presentations of the same topic while also determining the text structure and central idea using variety of mentor texts and short articles.
 - Introduce the purpose of a feature article (e.g., to inform and to entertain). Model the ways to inform such as using data, quoting from experts, text structure. Model the ways to entertain such as use of figurative language, layout and design and descriptive writing. Using mentor texts, identify and analyze the various ways authors inform and entertain. Discussion prompts could include:
 - What makes that technique effective?
 - Why do you think the author chose to explain it like that?
 - How does that presentation of information help the author get their ideas across?
- As an end of unit writing assessment, students will select a topic to write an informational expository article (i.e. feature article).

Recursive Strategies need to be included in all Units of Study. In reading, these include building prior knowledge, rereading to clarify information, seeking meaning of unknown vocabulary, using critical and higher order thinking skills, and responding to text. In writing, these include writing for various purposes and audiences, appropriate development, organization, style and word choice specific to writing genres, appropriate language conventions including sentence formation and appropriate grammar, mechanics and spelling/usage.

Vocabulary

Audience- the person or group for whom a selection is written or performed

Comparison writing- expository writing that describes similarities and differences between two or more subjects in order to achieve a specific purpose

Connotation- the meaning of a word based on an association that is implied by the word's ideas or qualities

Dash- a punctuation mark used to show a pause, break, or omission, or to set off part of a sentence from the rest

Grade Six English Language Arts Unit 3 Reading and Writing

Denotation- the objective meaning of a word independent of other associations the word calls to mind
Detail- specific information about the main idea
Edit- to correct a written work, checking for grammar, spelling, or punctuation errors
Elaborate- to extend ideas through the use of facts, description, details, or quotations
Evidence- information that shows, proves, or gives reasons for making a judgment
Figurative language- words that create images using language that has a deeper meaning than what the actual words express
Mood- the atmosphere of a literary work intended to evoke a certain emotion or feeling from the audience or reader
Multimedia- the combined use of several media, such as sound, video or text
Non-restrictive/Parenthetical elements- a word, phrase or clause in a sentence that provides additional information but is not needed or does not limit the element modified
Paraphrasing- restating an author's ideas in different words
Parentheses- punctuation marks used to set off asides and explanations when the material is not essential
Plagiarism- the use of ideas or writings of another author, representing them as one's original work
Plan- a step in the writing process used to make decisions about the content of the piece
Point of view- the position of the narrator in relation to the story derived from the author's depiction of events and attitude toward the characters
Publish- the final step in the writing process when the writer shares the work with others
Purpose- the intended or desired result of a piece of written or spoken material
Reflection- considered thoughts on a topic
Revise- a step in the writing process used to improve the original work
Summarize- give a brief statement of the main points of (something)
Technical meaning- written or spoken material (with little or no figurative language) that relates to a specialized subject or field
Tone- the feeling conveyed by a written or spoken work; the attitude an author takes toward the subject of literary work
Topic- the main thought or subject of written work

Grade Six English Language Arts Unit 4 Reading and Writing

Subject(s)	English Language Arts
Unit of Study	Unit #4 – Finding the Evidence/A Study of Argumentative Text
Pacing	30 days (25 instructional days and 5 re-teach/enrichment days)

Unit Summary

Using credible sources, students will compose an argumentative essay that demonstrates their understanding of author's claims and reasons. Throughout the unit, the teacher will provide whole group instruction using mentor texts to help students further develop their ability to write arguments to support claims with clear reasons and relevant evidence. Students will have opportunities to evaluate how effective an author is in convincing an audience.

Priority and Supporting CCSS

Note: The following standards are overarching standards and are found in all grade six units of study: RL.10, RI.10,W.4,W.10, SL.1, SL.6, L.6.

CCR.6.RI.1 CITE textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text.

CCR.6.RI.6 DETERMINE an author's point of view or purpose in a text and explain how it is conveyed in the text.

CCR.6.RI.7 INTEGRATE information presented in different media or formats (e.g., visually, quantitatively) as well as in words to develop a coherent understanding of a topic or an issue.

CCR.6.RI.8 TRACE and EVALUATE the argument and specific claims in a text, DISTINGUISHING claims that are supported by reasons and evidence from claims that are not.

CCR.6.W.1 WRITE arguments to support claims with clear reasons and relevant evidence.

CCR.6.W.1b SUPPORT claim(s) with clear reasons and relevant evidence, using credible sources and demonstrating an understanding of the topic or text.

CCR.6.W.1c USE words, phrases, and clauses to clarify the relationships among claim(s) and reasons.

CCR.6.W.SL.3 Delineate a speaker's argument and specific claims, distinguishing claims that are supported by reasons and evidence from claims that are not.

CCR.6.RI.5 ANALYZE how a particular sentence, paragraph, chapter or section fits into the overall structure of a text and contributes to the development of the ideas.

CCR.6.RI.9 COMPARE and CONTRAST one author's presentation of events with that of another (e.g., a memoir written by and a biography on the same person).

CCR.6.W.1a INTRODUCE claim(s) and organize the reasons and evidence clearly.

CCR.6.W.1d ESTABLISH and maintain a formal style.

Grade Six English Language Arts
Unit 4 Reading and Writing

CCR.6.W.1e PROVIDE a concluding statement or section that follows from the argument presented.

CCR.6.W.5 With some guidance and support from peers and adults, DEVELOP and STRENGTHEN writing as needed by planning, revising, editing, rewriting, or trying a new approach.

CCR.6.SL.3 DELINEATE a speaker's argument and specific claims, distinguishing claims that are supported by reasons and evidence from claims that are not.

CCR.6.L.1 DEMONSTRATE command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking.

CCR.6.L.2 DEMONSTRATE command of the conventions of standard English capitalization, punctuation, and spelling when writing.

CCR.6.L.2b SPELL correctly.

CCR.6.L.3 USE knowledge of language and its conventions when writing, speaking, reading, or listening.

CCR.6.L.4 DETERMINE or CLARIFY the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases based on grade 6 reading and content, choosing flexibly from a range of strategies.

CCR.6.L.4a USE context (e.g., the overall meaning of a sentence or paragraph; a word's position or function in a sentence) as a clue to the meaning of a word or phrase.

author's point of view is established through the use of language, organization and details and then determine if a claim is supported by reasons and evidence or not. Students examine information presented in different formats (e.g., pictures, graphs, videos, tables, maps, articles, essays, etc.) to develop a complete and logical understanding of a topic or issue.

3. Use ProQuest SIRS Researcher, NewsELA or Scope Magazine for pro/con articles.
- As a pre-assessment, provide students with one pro and one con article. Students will then choose a side to write a short essay using the evidence from the texts. See resource section for additional article selection.
- The students will cite textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text. Note: Continue to infuse throughout the unit, asking students to cite both explicit and implicit information while reading.

- Review finding explicit information. Create a chart while modeling how to infer when reading informational texts:

Clues from the text	What I know	My inference

- Lead a class discussion on making predictions and inferences. Possible discussion prompts/journal entries:
 - Based on information in _____, which _____ is best for _____? How do you know?
 - Which step is most important in _____?
- Students will determine an author's perspective (POV informational) or purpose in a text and explain how it is conveyed in the text and will trace and evaluate the argument and specific claims in a text, distinguishing claims that are supported by reasons and evidence from claims that are not.
 - As an introductory lesson, use two argumentative articles to model tracing an author's argument and determining the validity of an author's claim.
 - Provide opportunities for students to conduct close readings of content area text in order to determine the validity of an author's claim.

Grade Six English Language Arts Unit 4 Reading and Writing

- During reading, students will identify the evidence that supports or shows the author's opinion by marking the text or using a variety of graphic organizers (as suggested in the Daybook, Unit 11). Possible discussion topics/journal entries are:
 - What is the author's viewpoint in this text? How do you know? Is he/she successful in achieving it? Why or why not?
 - How does the author develop his argument about _____? Is the argument effective? Why or why not? Use evidence from the text to support your answer.
 - Which of the author's claims are not supported by evidence/reasons? Which of the authors claims are supported by evidence? Use examples from the text to support your answer.
- Students will integrate information presented in different media or formats (e.g., visually, quantitatively) as well as in words to develop a coherent understanding of a topic or an issue.
 - Teacher will model for students how to integrate information from multiple sources that contain different formats.
 - As an end of unit writing assessment, students will select a topic to research and collect a variety of print or digital sources that demonstrates a coherent understanding of their topics. Students will follow the writing process to write an argumentative essay that supports their claim with clear reasons and relevant evidence, using credible sources.

Recursive Strategies need to be included in all Units of Study. In reading, these include building prior knowledge, rereading to clarify information, seeking meaning of unknown vocabulary, using critical and higher order thinking skills, and responding to text. Vocabulary

Analyze-to close read to look at specific parts of the text with a purpose in mind
Argument- a statement of the major point of a written piece
Audience- the person or group for whom a selection is written or performed
Author's Intent/Purpose- the intended or desired result of a piece of written or spoken material
Author's Point of View- attitude or opinion of the author toward the subject/s
Claim- a statement or assertion presented as a fact

Grade Six English Language Arts Unit 4 Reading and Writing

Credible/trustworthy source- a source that is worthy of confidence or belief
Detail- specific information about the main idea
Edit- to correct a written work, checking for grammar, spelling, or punctuation errors
Elaborate- to extend ideas through the use of facts, description, details, or quotations
Evidence- information that shows, proves, or gives reasons for making a judgment
Explicit- fully and clearly expresses or defined
Inference- a conclusion drawn from prior knowledge and evidence or clues
Integrate Information/Ideas- the process of combining information from many sources
Justify- show or prove to be right or reasonable
Opinion- a view or judgment formed about something, not necessarily based on fact or knowledge
Organization- the arrangement of written work
Reflection- considered thoughts on a topic
Relevant Supporting Evidence- details that effectively support the argument/claim
Revise- a step in the writing process used to improve the original work
Topic- the main thought or subject of written work
Transition- words, phrases or clauses that connect or move ideas from one subject to another

The steps to the process are recursive, meaning students may move back and forth through the steps throughout the unit. End of Unit Rubric should be shared with students prior to evaluation in order to set expectations for learning. All page numbers referenced throughout the activity section refer to pages in The Big6 in Middle School, by Barbara A. Jansen. - Restate and display the task and compare to what they wrote.
 - Guide students with similar topics toward group work to generate a list of questions and determine what information would be important to know (i.e., students studying biographies).
 - Guide students toward generating key words. Separate the original question from the key words. Explain that the words will help them when the different sources may present information with different vocabulary.
- Information Seeking Strategies: Focus on determining the range of possible sources and selecting the best sources.
 - Brainstorm possible sources for example problems as a whole class with a goal of thinking broadly. For example, think past the internet, books and magazines and references. Look additionally at local experts, primary sources, documentary films, SIRS (referenced in units 4 and 5) and more.
 - In small groups, brainstorm and narrow sources related to a topic and compare as a class. Discuss the benefits of specific sources for specific types of problems.
 - Write a list of possible sources and ask students to select a source and explain why that source is chosen.
 - Guide students to evaluate the accuracy and reliability of sources they select. Use the 5 W's of web evaluation from page 91 for guidance.
- Location and Access: Focus on locating sources and accessing the information.
 - Create an anchor chart of the types of information generated from Information Seeking Strategies.
 - Provide mini-lessons on modeling how to locate information from each source. Note: See page 96 for more information.
 - Guide students to access information for their topics using classroom resources, library media resources and technology lab.
 - Guide students to use an index and table of contents for information in books.
 - Guide students in locating appropriate databases for information and assist in using various combinations of keywords and related words in searches. Teach and assist advanced searches as needed.
- Use of Information: Focus on engaging (e.g. read, hear and view) and extracting relevant information from sources.
 - Model learning of how to “read” a page of information and model identifying essential points of

- Provide an audience for students to share projects in a meaningful way with others.

Recursive Strategies need to be included in all Units of Study. In reading, these include building prior knowledge, rereading to clarify information, seeking meaning of unknown vocabulary, using critical and higher order thinking skills, and responding to text. In writing, these include writing for various purposes and audiences, appropriate development, organization, style and word choice specific to writing genres, appropriate language conventions including sentence formation and appropriate grammar, mechanics and spelling/usages.

Grade Six English Language Arts Unit 6 Reading and Writing

Subject(s)	English Language Arts
Unit of Study	Unit #6 – Understanding the World Through Text
Pacing	20 days (15 instructional days and 5 re-teach/enrichment days)

Unit Summary

Throughout the unit, emphasize compare and contrasting the same idea or theme with a different genre and how the author's perspective is demonstrated differently between medium. Students recognize why a particular theme might be better conveyed in a narrative versus a poem or a drama versus a short story. Students should be read and gather new information from the text and write about what they read, refocusing their inquiry from multiple texts to create new understandings and knowledge.

Priority and Supporting CCSS

Note: The following standards are overarching standards and are found in all grade six units of study: RL.10, RI.10,W.4,W.10, SL.1, SL.6, L.6.

CCR.6.RL.1 Cite textual evidence to support analysis of what the text says explicitly as well as inferences drawn from the text.

CCR.6.RL.7 COMPARE and CONTRAST the experience of reading a story, drama, or poem to listening to or viewing an audio, video, or live version of the text, including contrasting what they “see” and “hear” when reading the text to what they perceive when they listen or watch.

CCR.6.RL.9 COMPARE and CONTRAST texts in different forms or genres (e.g., stories and poems; historical novels and fantasy stories) in terms of their approaches to similar themes and topics.

CCR.RI.3 ANALYZE in detail how a key individual, event or idea is introduced, illustrated, and elaborated in a text.

CCR.6.W.9a APPLY grade 6 Reading standards to literature (e.g., “Compare and contrast texts in different forms or genres [e.g., stories and poems; historical novels and fantasy stories] in terms of their approaches to similar themes and topics.

CCR.6.SL.2 INTERPRET information presented in diverse media and formats (e.g., visually, quantitatively, orally) and explain how it contributes to a topic, text, or issue under study.

CCR.6.RI.5 Analyze how a particular sentence, paragraph, chapter or section fits into the overall structure of a text and contributes to the development of the ideas.

CCR.6.W.9 DRAW evidence from literary or informational texts to support analysis, reflection, and research.

CCR.6.SL.5 Include multi-media components (e.g., graphics, images, music, sound) in visual displays in presentations to clarify information.

CCR.6.L.1 DEMONSTRATE command of the conventions of standard English grammar and usage when writing or speaking.

CCR.6.L.1e RECOGNIZE variations from standard English in their own and others’ writing and speaking, and IDENTIFY and USE strategies to improve expression in conventional language.

CCR.6.L.2 DEMONSTRATE command of the conventions of standard English capitalization, punctuation, and spelling when writing.

CCR.6.L.2b SPELL correctly.

Unit 6 Reading and Writing

CCR.6.L.3 USE knowledge of language and its conventions when writing, speaking, reading, or listening.
 CCR.6.L.4 DETERMINE or CLARIFY the meaning of unknown and multiple-meaning words and phrases based on grade 6 reading and content, choosing flexibly from a range of strategies.
 CCR.6.L.4a USE context (e.g., the overall meaning of a sentence or paragraph; a word's position or function in a sentence) as a clue to the meaning of a word or phrase.
 CCR.6.L.4b USE common, grade-appropriate Greek or Latin affixes and roots as clues to the meaning of a word (e.g., audience, auditory, audible).

Grade Six English Language Arts Unit 6 Reading and Writing

Lesson 24, pages 208 – 213 (L.1e)

- Students will compare and contrast the experience of reading a story, drama, or poem to listening to or viewing an audio, video, or live version of the text, including contrasting what they “see” and “hear” when reading the text to what they perceive when they listen or watch.
 - Select a theme or topic, conduct close readings to look for how the information is presented in one text in comparison to another in a different genre. Select from different mediums (audio, visual, live version).
 - Compare and contrast how the theme or topic is portrayed.
 - Lead a class discussion to review genres. Brainstorm ideas of how different approaches may impact the theme and topic.
 - Using a strategy such as jigsaw, students work in small groups with texts of a similar theme/topic but different genre based on class interest or content area. Students chart the theme/topic of each text and text evidence for the theme to share with class. Share observations of the approach from each author to the theme/topic in whole class discussions.
 - Students will discuss and respond in writing to the following prompts:
 - What inference can be made about (theme)? Explain using key details from the passage to support your answer? (Single text)
 - How are _____ (text title) and _____ (text title) alike and different in their approach to the theme/topic of _____? (student interest based themes)
 - Which text is more effective in relaying this theme? Use examples from both texts to support your answer.
 - How do the developments of (individuals/events/ideas in (title text one) resemble (individuals/events/ideas) in (title text two)?
 - Both authors include information about (provide individuals/events/ideas). What do the differences between the information in the two texts tell the reader about (provide author’s name and author’s purpose)?
 - Possible culminating activities:
 - Students could compose a fictional piece (short story, poem, play, graphic novel) that compliments non-fiction topic. (Differentiation)
 - Students could present a play, skit or drama that compliments non-fiction topic. (Differentiation)
 - Given two different sources of similar topics, students could create a technology based

- presentation/project that analyzes and justifies the author's presentation technique.
- Students will select a topic and will work in small groups to produce a variety of mediums (e.g., poem, radio broadcast, informational article, song, video, skit/drama, photography). Then students will compare and contrast each other's work looking for evidence of effective presentation techniques.

Recursive Strategies need to be included in all Units of Study. In reading, these include building prior knowledge, rereading to clarify information, seeking meaning of unknown vocabulary, using critical and higher order thinking skills, and responding to text.
